Vietnamese Teachers' Day

Vietnamese Teacher's Day, locally known as "Ngày Nhà giáo Việt Nam" is a day that holds a special place in the hearts of students, educators, and the entire nation. In Vietnamese culture, teachers are often considered to be second parents, guiding students not only in academics but also in life.

On November 20th, 2023, SGA's student shows their love and respect by giving flowers, and heartfelt notes to their teachers, along with performances and activities to make teachers feel cherished. "Happy Vietnamese Teacher's Day to the educators who light up our path to knowledge!"

Q: What do you think about studying at SGA?

St. George Academy is like a small community and everyone has a really strong connection with each other. I have made a lot of friends from different countries and backgrounds. Also, the teachers here are professional and they are very patient with me and help me a lot with my language learning and academic coursework. Last but not least, the staff and counselors take care of me and my daily life and everything. They help me get used to overseas life very quickly and provide convenience to my life.

Q: Why would you recommend SGA to students considering joining a high school?

St. George Academy is a very professional school that has a very well-established education system to teach students and to help them achieve their goals. Like most of my classmates, they enrolled in the University of Toronto which is the Top University in Canada. SGA counselors can help them find what major they like and guide them to apply for their dream programs.

Q: Could you share with us more about the in-class memories and the activities you've done at SGA?

There's once SGA took us ice skating downtown and it was a fresh experience for me. I like SGA helps me enjoy city life.
